

I'm 47 and I look good!

47 Year Old Concrete Pavement
Interstate 26
Dorchester County, SC

How will your pavement look after 47 years?

If it is concrete, you can relax, knowing you have selected a pavement with a history of living past its designed life. Just take this section of pavement on I-26 in Dorchester County, South Carolina. It is 47 years old and has had little to no maintenance. No other pavement type can boast that and still say they look this good.

Concrete pavements are tough, durable, sustainable and offer the best value. Concrete pavements have always provided the lowest life cycle costs, but due to rising oil prices in the last few years, concrete has now become competitive on initial costs. So go ahead, make yourself look good by choosing concrete.
